Cuddle and Read

Spend some time cuddled up with your child reading. Enjoying a book together gives you a chance to share a warm, fun time with your child. It can be a great way to end a day, a good "calm down" time together, and a time of great comfort for your child.

What your child is learning:

Reading is a special time with a parent, when you get one on one attention. By spending this time together, your child begins to love reading.
